Bierton Church, from a mid-nineteenth-century water-colour in the County Museum. It was built on the core of a site where excavation has revealed evidence of occupation spanning several thousand years.

Cover Illustration

The water colour from which our cover illustration is taken is unsigned, but is attributed on reasonable grounds to John Louis Petit, 1801 – 1868. It shows Bierton church from the south east, with the vicarage to the left. The area of the excavation reported in our first article is in the foreground. (BCM Acc. No. 1.1984)
