COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

JAN. 30, 1854. —Impressions of several Ancient Seals, including those of Missenden Priory and the Grey Friars of Aylesbury, were presented by Mr. FIELD. Also, a specimen of the Remains found, A. D. 1818, near Holman's Bridge, on the Aylesbury and Buckingham Road. —These appear to mark the site of the Battle of Aylesbury, fought on the 1st of November, 1642, between the troops of King Charles I., under the command of Prince Rupert, and the Parliamentary Garrison who held Aylesbury under Sir William Balfour, in which the latter were victorious.

Notice was received of the Roman and Anglo Saxon relics found at Mentmore.

It was resolved that as a mark of gratitude to the first Secretary, who has now left the country, the name of the Rev. A. BAKER be transferred to the list of Honorary Members: likewise to that of W. SLATER, Esq., Architect, in consideration of the services which he has rendered to the Society.

FEB. 6, 1854. —Mr. FIELD presented some fragments of a Roman tessellated Pavement, found near the Turnpike at Little Kimble, Bucks. The pavement was laid in mortar, and resembled a hearth, about 4 feet by 3. Some foundations of Flint were discovered at the same time; and in the adjoining fields, nearer to Great Kimble, Roman Tiles have frequently been ploughed up, and Roman Coins occasionally found.

MARCH 27, 1854. —The following letter was read from the Rev. W. HASTINGS KELKE, one of the Secretaries: —

" Drayton Beauchamp Rectory,
Tring, March 18th, 1854.

"MY DEAR SIR, —Although my health prevented my taking any active part in the proceedings of the Society after Mr. EVETTS resigned the Secretaryship, yet as I was then the only person in whose name

Circulars could properly be issued, I readily assented to my name being used for the purpose of convening a General Meeting, to fill up the vacant offices, and restore the effective operations of the Society.

"Had my health continued to improve, I should willingly have retained the second Secretaryship, in the hope of rendering occasional services to the Society, without taking any very active part in its proceedings; but as my bodily infirmities have rather increased than diminished, I feel it necessary to withdraw from all avocations which have no direct demand on me, that I may devote my small remaining powers to those duties which have an imperative demand on me.

"Under these circumstances I feel compelled to resign the office which the Society did me the honor to confer on me, although in my hands it has always been little more than a sinecure; and I sincerely hope and believe you will soon find a more efficient coadjutor, who will give you such help as I could never hope to afford.

"I shall, however, be happy to place at the disposal of the Society the loan of such materials as I have heretofore collected or prepared bearing upon its objects; for I verily believe it is calculated to be useful, not only in a scientific and historical, but also in a religious point of view, If its proceedings be fairly conducted on the broad and impartial principles laid down in our Diocesan's Inaugural Address.

"Wishing, therefore, the Society all prosperity,

" I remain,

" My dear Sir,

" Your's truly,

"W. HASTINGS KELKE.

" To the Rev. A. NEWDIGATE,
Hon. Sec. of A. & A. S. "

The Secretary was directed to assure Mr. KELKE of the very great regret, with which the Committee received his resignation, and of their grateful sense of the services that he had rendered to the Society since its commencement, especially during the four years in which he had held the office of Hon. Secretary,

The Secretary announced that tho Society had been admitted to Membership of the Archaeological Institute; and the privilege conferred upon its Members of attending the apartments of the Institute, at 26, Suffolk-street, Pall Mall, at its Monthly Meetings and other times.

A notice was read of a weapon (if it may be so called) resembling a Miniature Pistol, or a Match Lock, found in digging a grave in Ellesborough Church-yard, in August, 1853, and now in the possession of the Rector.

HEADS OF INFORMATION.

The Committee, feeling ~~the increasing~~ importance of collecting materials for an accurate Topographical History, earnestly solicit information illustrative (so far as may be) of each locality in the County, especially with reference to the following points: —

1. Any alterations made in the Church, or Churches, since the publication, in 1849, of the "Ecclesiastical Topography of Buckinghamshire;" and any inaccuracies or deficiencies known to exist in that work.
2. Historical, interesting, or peculiar Monuments, Epitaphs, incised Slabs, or Brasses.
3. Ancient Books, Plate, Seals, and Embroidery; remarkable Ironwork, Carved Wood, and Sculpture; Frescoes.
4. Have any Churches or Chapels in the Parish been destroyed, or converted to secular purposes? Are there any traces of ruined Castles, Mansions, or Religious Houses? Their Date and History.
5. Is there any Edifice deserving of notice on account of its Antiquity, Architecture, or other reason?
6. If there are any Alms-houses, Church-houses, or Poor-houses, their date, nature, and rules of their foundation.
7. The date of the earliest entry in the Parish Registers. Memorable or curious extracts from the Registers, Parish Account-books, Wills, Letters, or other Documents.
8. Any memorable circumstance which may have occurred in the Parish within the memory of man. Have any celebrated Characters been born in, or connected with it?
9. Is there any Manorial Residence? Of what date? Any peculiar Manorial Rights, Customs, Tenures, or Courts?
10. Are there any good Maps or Plans of the Parish; Prints or Drawings tending to illustrate its past or present Topography, History, Antiquities, &c.?
11. Remarkable Traditions in any Family of the Parish, and peculiar devices or legends connected with their Armorial bearings.
12. Are there any ancient Roads, Encampments, or Barrows? Have the latter been opened? What was discovered?
13. Have any ancient Vessels, Weapons, Coins, or other Relics been found? Where are they preserved?
14. Legendary Rocks, Wells, &c.; Superstitious Practices or Opinions: Local Traditions, Customs, and Provincialisms.
15. Any Trees remarkable for size, antiquity, or historical connections; any peculiar Plants, Animals, Reptiles, or Insects that may have been found in the Parish.
16. Anything peculiar in the Geological formation of the District; any Fossils found therein.

Papers on Natural History, Botany, and Geology will be thankfully received; as also illustrative Drawings, Plans, and Maps.

CATHEDRAL AT INVERNESS

FOR THE

DIOCESE OF MORAY AND ROSS.

THE urgent and pressing appeals for the ministrations of their Church from Episcopalians in this Diocese, who are too scattered to be able at present to form themselves into Congregations, but to which, from the paucity of labourers, the Bishop has been utterly unable to respond, have forced upon him the conviction that the only mode by which he could effectually meet such appeals was by gathering around him a body of clergy, who, not tied down to any particular Congregation, might go forth and minister, with authority from himself, wherever need might be. There are many members of the Scottish Episcopal Church in this Diocese who have but few and far distant opportunities of having their children made members of the Church at the hands of their own clergy, or of themselves ever receiving the Holy Eucharist. One instance came under the Bishop's own observation, of a family which for twenty years had not once heard the services of their Church. If things be allowed to remain as they are, all these must, in time, be lost to the Church; as lost as their ancestors were, who, in this Diocese, long stood fast by their Church, until, under the operation of the penal statutes of 1748, they were gradually deprived of the services of their clergy. But lost they will not be, if the Bishop shall be enabled to gather around him such a body of clergy as he is now seeking—earnest, devout, humble self-denying men—willing to do the Church's work in the Church's way—with gentleness and forbearance towards those who differ from them.

But such a body of clergy gathered around their Bishop, engaged with him in ministering to the spiritual necessities of the Diocese, living together, and working together, what is such a College of Presbyters but the Bishop's Chapter? Such, if God be with him, he purposes to make them; and when he has thus obtained the active living materials of his Cathedral, the beautiful fabric itself will most surely rise, in which they may carry on the necessary work of Daily Prayer and Praise, to the honour and glory of the Great Redeemer.

Towards the accomplishment of this great work, all "who are willing-hearted" are invited—the rich to give of their abundance, the poor of their poverty. A large sum is of necessity required—at the very least £20,000; but, as will be seen below, God's blessing has already rested on the undertaking. Where are "the faint-hearted" when more than one third of the sum required has already been so mercifully provided?

For a more distinct view of the Bishop's object, the Committee would refer to the pastoral letter which he has lately issued to the clergy and laity of the Diocese.

Subscriptions and Donations, which may be made payable either at once, or extending over any number of years not exceeding five, will be received by the Right Reverend the Bishop of Moray and Ross, Inverness; by the Union Bank Edinburgh; by Messrs. Strahan, Paul, and Bates, 217, Strand, London (to the account of "Inverness Cathedral"); the Rev. James Allan Park, Elwick Hall, Castle Eden, Ferry Hill, Co. of Durham; the Rev. Herbert S. Hawkins, Henny Rectory, Sudbury, Suffolk.

The amount already contributed, in money or value, towards either the Endowment or Building, exceeds £8,000.

DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE OF THE MIDDLE AGES. Volume II. THE FOURTEENTH CENTURY. £1 1s.

This volume is issued under the superintendence of the editor of the Glossary of Architecture, but on the plan adopted by the late Mr. Hudson Turner in the previous volume; viz., collecting matter relating to Domestic buildings of the Period, from contemporary records, and applying the information so required to the existing remains.

Not only will the volume contain much curious information both as to the buildings and manners and customs of the time, but it is also hoped that the large collection of careful Engravings of the finest examples will prove as serviceable to the profession and their employers in building mansions, as the Glossary was found to be in building churches.
